"A hope never dies!"

Welcoming a new July, I would like to greet all the supporters of DAIL community.

The famous poem 'Green Grape', written by Lee Yuk-Sa, describes a beautiful scene in which you gently bear a hope. 'The green grapes of my hometown would grow in July. The legend of the village grows here and there, and the sky far away gets stuck to the grapes one by one...'

It tells you a story of hope in the future describing the blue sky, which represents the hope, is stuck to the grapes. So do I. I hope all of us would dream a hope in July. Throughout April, May and June, our emergency rescue team 1 to 5 flew to Nepal and gave their best help to the brothers and sisters in sorrow. They have done a lot of volunteer works including free meals, medical support, disease control, temporary shelters and toilets. Also, DAIL emergency rescue team 6, 7 and 8 will share the sorrow and happiness with the neighbors of Nepal, and work for them until their land gets recovered completely. In June, the fear of the MERS covered the whole nation and all the people in Korea lived in an anxiety and a worry. A lot of corporates and volunteer organizations, who had been supporting our free meal services, canceled or delayed their volunteer works during the period, so only a few individual volunteers participated in the service for many days. In this time of difficulty, I was able to afford my mission, which the God gave me, because of you, the supporters of DAIL, helped me with one spirit.

My dear supporters!

Though the buildings of Nepal had broken down and the fear of the MERS had captured your heart, a hope never dies. DAIL still wants to be a hope of the neighbors in need. Also, those who would readily share the happiness, sorrow and property with them, are the hope of DAIL. Wherever you go, whatever you do, I hope many fruits of hope just like the green grapes of July would be given to you...

On any given day of July,

How to Support with KAKAOTALK

Keep smiling, Nepal!

People are busy picking out things or materials that could be of use from the pile of debris. Their struggle for revival makes us so humble. They begin to smile again as they regain the hope receiving medical support and building new houses with the help of DAIL Community.

days of emergency rescue in Nepal

Ji-Hyun Lee

Nepal emergency rescue team and Director of Babfor Sharing Campaign headquarters

More than the fear of aftershock, love towards suffering brothers.

Saturday, April 25th. On hearing the news of a strong earthquake in Nepal and its massive damage, I was worried about the safety of our Babfor staff in Katmandu. Though I had to take care of the center as a member of the emergency rescue 1st team, I had no choice but to have a burden about my role.

The Katmandu Airport where I visited 2 years ago for a vision trip was filled with a heavy atmosphere. Actually, it was more than 'heavy'. It was the fear and sorrow that surrounded the whole place at the moment.

I could obviously feel the fear and worries of the victims when I saw the tragic scene of the disaster on my way to the center from the airport. The open places around the airport were filled with the tents of the victims and the gas stations and road look like a mayhem because of the people who tried to get gas and evacuate. That's how my first day in Nepal started.

The place we're going to is Sindhupalchok region!

I checked the damages from the earthquake everywhere in the downtown after our damage investigation team left for the area of Sindhupalchok where had been damaged the most. I felt so terrible seeing the totally collapsed buildings, small and large cultural heritages, palaces and houses. Luckily, it was Saturday when the students didn't go to school.

In the evening, the pictures and the news from Sindhupalchok were so tragic that no one could even explain it. Vintar, the area where 188 houses had been, completely broke down and left no trace of humans. I could barely assume that there lived people to see only a few of them still standing there. After seeing the pictures and listening to the news from the disaster area, we, the emergency rescue team of DAIL Community, could read each other's eyes saying, "This is the place where we have to go!".

Sharing food in a hurry, setting up a medical camp

Next day, we loaded up the rice cooker, water and rice into the truck and set up a base camp at Vintar to start the Babfor, a free meal service. I thought, "Yes, this is what DAIL does!", "This is the first resolution of DAIL!" when I saw the people appreciating for the meals we offered. Giving meals to the poor in the open places with nothing, it was the first resolution of Babfor which started at Cheonryangri 27 years ago. A few days later, we set up a medical camp at Sindhupalchok to take care of the sick with emergency rescue 2nd and 3rd team, and started our volunteer works in earnest along with the free meal service. The medical team who sincerely took care of the patients under the hot sun, was a wonder itself beyond an impression.

Dr. Young-Mi Choi of the Shihwa General Hospital is treating the patients at the DAIL medical center in Nepal.

Cheer up, Munos!

A lot of children came to Babfor camp to have their breakfast. The proportion of the children in the population of Nepal is pretty high, for example, more than 40 percent of the victims of this earthquake is the children. That's why many children came to have breakfast. Munos, a 12-years old boy, was one of them. He looked bright and innocent just like the other boys in the neighborhood. However, he had a sad story which made me cry in secret. His family was working in the field as usual before the earthquake began. When his parents entered into their house for lunch, the earthquake killed them in an instant. The worse part was that he looked calm when he told us the story, and it broke our heart. Moreover, we heard that more children in the area had the same story, and we had no choice but to cry behind the children.

The power of a fumigator from the Korea's Anti-Epidemic Association

'Hummmm~'. The children began to gather when they heard a noise of the fumigator. Soon the white smog came out of the fumigator and the children kept following it just like we did in our childhood. The emergency relief 3rd team took a fumigator which was donated by the Korea's Anti-Epidemic Association, and became the first relief team to do the preventive works. The dead bodies stuck to the pile of the collapsed buildings made the survivors worried about the infection of the disease, so they were very satisfied with our fumigator works. All the people here and there wanted us to visit their homes, and we did what they wanted with pleasure. Moreover, they even wanted us to help others in isolated spots. It made me think, 'How could they be so innocent?'; 'What made them take care of others in this situation?'; and I could share their beautiful mind from the deepest part of my heart.

Giving 30kg of rice to each family

Except for Katmandu, the capital city, or other big cities, the villages of Nepal are comprised of dozens of houses in the mountain regions. The village named Pulvindara was also one of those mountain villages and we visited there to give some food like rice to the victims. I didn't expect it would be a tough work as I had already done the same work in other villages. However, the road to the village was so narrow for the truck that we had to carry the heavy rice bags by ourselves. The line of the people, including the villagers, with the rice bags on their back looked just like the march of the ants, and we could forget the tough work with a big smile. Maybe it was the happiest moment with sweat.

Back to Korea

I remind the word 'Datnebat(thank you)'; which I heard when I gave them a meal or a rice bag. Though I came here to help them, it would be me who had to say thank you as they gave me a bigger lesson and happiness. My heart will be always with them until the pain and sorrow get completely removed from them, so that I wouldn't be shamed of the word 'Datnebat' I heard.

Cheer up! Nepal!

We feel the compassion of one who watches a joyful child drink from clear, bursting waters washing away
the dirt and dust.

The Nepalese people's hands are busy from digging through the rubble for furnishing and useful materials, even without gloves using their bare hands
I feel pity for them who is struggling to cheer up only because they can not just sit down plump.

Now someone to hold their hand is just us.

Dail community want to raise collapsed hopes for Nepal earthquake recovery with a sustained rebuilding plan for more than one year.

Three part Reconstruction Plan

1. Village, Church and School Reconstruction
2. Water and Hygiene Improvement
3. Child Protection and Support

01

Village, Church and School Reconstruction

In case of the mountain villages damaged from the earthquake, more than 90 percent of houses and infrastructures had been destroyed. The whole area of Shindupalcho, especially, had been so seriously damaged that 100 percent of them could be said to be destroyed. We aim to give a better life back to them as they are not able to stand again by themselves. We are looking for the good-willed organizations like churches, groups or corporations who would kindly set up a relationship with one of the damaged villages for a sustainable reconstruction.

How to Support

Building temporary shelters, donating the materials for reconstruction, rebuilding the houses, schools and churches.

Water and Hygiene Improvement

The most of the water and hygiene facilities have been destroyed, so the victims have no choice but to drink the water from nearby valleys or ground, and to relieve themselves around their residence without any hygienic treatment. This heightens the risk of infectious disease along with the climate which is about to enter into the rainy season.

How to Support

Donating temporary restrooms, building public restrooms, improving and rebuilding the water supply facilities.

03

Looking for the rebuilding groups, churches and individuals to join

Child Protection and Support

The proportion of the children under 10 in the population of Nepal is 40 percent. Those young children were not given the opportunities to receive a good education, and now they are about to completely lose that minor opportunity as many of their parents had been killed or injured by the earthquake. Moreover, the number of the children who became an orphan has remarkably increased, so that the facilities to raise and protect them urgently need to be built. We ask your help to educate them in good circumstances and make their dreams come true.

How to Support

1 to 1 support relationship(education and school meals), building childcare centers

The rainy season of Nepal has just begun and will last for 3 months. Now Nepal is facing more serious danger and fear than the earthquake. Though two months have passed since the earthquake and many people begin to forget the tragedy of Nepal, a real tragedy is about to begin now. Winter comes right after the end of the rainy season, so immediate reconstruction is the most important thing than anything else. The labor of DAIL Community aims to rescue as many lives as possible, and it will be surely maintained if you join us. We sincerely request your interest and support for Nepal.

"We have a heart to give big dreams to the children"

The Stony Brook School

SUNG WON LEE

It was my second time having one great week in Cambodia. Last year, our school went to Cambodia as a big group. I felt like this year was more freely spent since it was harder to move as a big group quickly. Go Se In assistant manager of Cambodia Dail Community helped us spend meaningful time with balanced schedule in Cambodia. We volunteered to help in Babfor and Bbangfor, which is cooking meals and bread for kids and adults who have difficulties in feeding themselves. I was really glad that more Cambodian Volunteers came to help us distributing food in the plates. It was such a hard work, but with cooperation with Cambodian kids and adults, it was not tiring at all. Some middle school girls helped out by my side when distributing food on the plates and there was this one boy who helped in moving the trays after my friends and I did the dishes. I was really glad that volunteers are not the only ones who experience what it is to think about others and that children in Dail Community are learning what other children in other places cannot easily adapt. When we were giving out plates full of food to people who were usually kids and moms of young children, I saw kids wrapping up the food in plastic bags without eating anything. It takes only a few dollars from our pockets for us to buy one meal but for them that one meal is the only meal and even with that situation, some kids are saving up the meals for their own family who cannot come to the center. Not only we did feeding activities, but we also did sanitary activity, boat painting, exercise in the kindergarten on the lake and etc. We took a small boat that Cambodian people usually ride for 15 minutes and played soccer with the kindergarten kids. Those kids were a combination of Cambodian and Vietnam kids, so it was hard to communicate with them, but scoring and being scored, with three enthusiastic soccer lovers, was one of the most entertaining activities here. Some kids got angry since we scored too easily, but it was an awesome experience for both them and us, because it is not often that they become active above water. We also had English lessons with the kids who were willing to learn English. With the help from Alex and Vanessa, we were able to finish the class with welcoming kids who lovingly repeated after us when we said anything. I hope that more kids can learn English and dream bigger. Lastly, the most memorable experience was when we went to visit the kids we sponsor. Inpyo and Yujin are currently sponsoring for 3 years, my sister and I for 2 years and David started since this visit. Inpyo's kid, Lon Tiara, welcomed Inpyo with a lovely hug even though she seemed very shy. Inpyo still thinks and is proud that the gifts he gave her last year had an influence on her dream of being a designer. I hope Ppeurotteura the kid I sponsor was happy to see me as well. I gave him a soccer ball and a t-shirt. I was very touched that he was still smiling even when his younger brothers were jealous about the present. He had to give the ball to the youngest brother at last, but he was smiling until I left. The kids handed us hand-written letters and I was very happy that they were thinking about us as much as we think about them. My wish is that more people find out this joy of sharing love and of learning about each other because there are much more kids who want to be sponsored in desiring of big brothers and sisters. dail

I was an atheist without faith.
After attending the Dail Spirituality Training,
I believe in Jesus.
In this way God found me

Report of Dail Spirituality Training

If we confess our sins, He is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

John 1 : 9

I was an atheist in the past. I tried to do whatever I could, but then I came to realize there is a high wall between me and the world, which made me suffer from a serious lethargy. Then one day, my younger brother advised me to relax for a while saying, "You look so depressed these days. Why don't you visit the Sulkok Mountain and relax for a while?" at the dinner table. Surprisingly, I got curious about Sulkok Mountain and made up my mind to go there. I thought about a lot of things in the mountain. I recognized that I had been avoiding the serious problems of my life, even though I had plenty of time to do it. Such regret made me cry all night and face the truth with sincere attitude. I eventually could not help but wail at the moment I saw my father, whom I would have never forgiven, showing his lonely back to me. Also, I honestly asked myself. Who am I? What I was born to be, and What should I live for? The only thing I could obviously figure out among the questions was that I had been arrogant and stupid enough to think that I could lead my own life. The God himself visited me who was filled with such arrogance and stupidity. The Lord made me recognize my trifling existence and my sin of having hated my father for a long time. I had no choice but to kneel down again. Then I confessed, "I was wrong, my Lord. Please forgive my sin". These tears were different. It was neither a regret of my life, nor an anger for myself. It was much further than a hatred for my father. Later I could find out that it was a repentance of myself who had ignored the existence of the God.

I shedded tears much more than ever before and five days passed. Then I plucked up my courage to stay longer in the mountain. The regular life cycle, including three meals a day made my physical rhythm, which used to be a night person, become normal, and I felt I was getting healthier doing physical labor that I had never experienced. Most of all, staying with the brothers and sisters who became one under the name of the God, I began to learn how to be satisfied with small gifts, and to have composure by which I can listen to the sorrows of others.

I still have many things to learn. Sometimes I feel hatred, seeing the brother whom I could not love. Then I become afraid of being left by the God because of my hatred, however, the following passage of John 1:9 makes me feel warm.

Looking back my life at this moment, I really appreciate my mother, Hwang Duk-Soon(Rose) and my younger brother, Ko Jong-Gu(Timothy) for their praying for me and leading me to the God. I also would like to express my gratitude to Rev. Choi Il-Do, members of the community and helpers who have led the spirituality training in the Sulkok Mountain. I will live a life of a debtor who owes the God and those people. My last wish is to live in God’s way until the last day of my life. Thank you. I love you. I bless you. It is a wonderful world, Ah-ha!

Hope Class Becomes Happy Class!

The first semester of the Hope Class 2, which started with 35 angels in March, 2015, has finished in safety. For the past three months, both the students and the teachers did their best to get closer to each other sweating under the hot sun of Africa. The students would knock the school gate at 6:30 every morning, though they knew that their first class would start at 8:00. They always wait for the teachers in front of the gate to take them by the hand. They love their teachers who teach them easily one by one, and love their delicious lunch and snacks with a variety of menus. Though they get scolded everyday, they know it is a training of love. They don't skip their classes no matter how much they get sick. They listen to the words of the Bible attentively, and memorize the words with their beautiful voice every morning. They look like the wild flowers in the field, however, I love them as the way they are, just like I love the wild flowers as the way they look. I would like to make the children realize the words, 'You are so special!'. Because of the Tan-DAIL members who hold all of and pray for them, our Hope Class is becoming Happy Class. On the day of the anniversary for celebrating the end of the first semester, the students and parents gathered together and became the members of Happy Class.

A Greeting of Returning Three years have passed since I first came to Tanzania in April, 2012. I have been assigned to the department of overseas affairs of the DAIL Welfare Foundation as of today. Looking back the three years in Tanzania, I confess that every step of the way was with the Lord and every single thing was with his love. I just did what I had to do, so I again confess I am nothing but a useless one. I hope you give much love and attention to Park Jong-Won, who will take over my position here in Tanzania, so that he can successfully perform his mission. dail

Consistent Love of the Koreans in North America Towards Nepal

Three weeks of tour assembly for the victims of Nepal Earthquake has been safely finished around the area of North America by Rev. Ildo Choi and the grace of the God. Rev. Choi, whose last visit to Atlanta was almost 28 months ago, held a gathering focused on the children of the executives of the first USA DAIL Community, so that they could lead the community in the next generation. He also prayed for Nepal with his old friends whom he couldn't meet for a long time. Though it's been a long time since their last reunion, they could pray for Nepal and the mission of the USA DAIL with one heart as they had been communicated with each other by the power of the Holy God. Also, we established the seventh board of directors of the USA DAIL Community and had a valuable moment of promising the reform of our region. Rev. Choi introduced our mission in Nepal to the Presbyterian Church of London and the Kitchener-Waterloo Korean Presbyterian Church nearby Toronto, Canada. He also formed a board of directors focusing on Rev. Hyung Sik Lee, the head of the CANADA DAIL

Community, and other local pastors to start the mission of the CANADA DAIL Community.

In the assembly of New York and New Jersey, especially, many churches, including the Moak Yang Presbyterian Church which is served by Rev. Byung Ki Song, the head of the Supporters of the New York DAIL Community, the HaKnesiah Church(Rev. Kwang Sung Jung), the Presbyterian Church of New Jersey(Rev. Do Wan Kim) and the Grace & Love Church(Rev. Bum So Ki), made a special offering in order to help with the reconstruction of the five collapsed churches in Shindupalchok, Nepal, including the Hosanna Church, the Jotinivas Church, the Nirvin Church, the Kodari Church and the Maranata Church. The friends in New York, and the pastors and deacons of the Presbyterian Church of New Jersey, also made an offering for the churches in Shindupalchok. We are truly thankful to those who helped us with the rebuilding of Nepal rebuilding supporters and on top of that We also thank all the U.S.A DAIL Community.

We are truly thankful to support for Nepal, Byoung In Suh, Dental Implant Center of OHIO, Francisco S. The children love movie day!

Though I barely remember the name of the movies that I saw in the churches or community centers in my childhood, the feeling of the moment still remains happy. Today, a small village of Philippines named Varangai Malia reminds me of the memories that all the villagers gathered together to watch TV in the evening. The children here cannot go to the theaters, even though there are large ones in the distance of 20 minutes from the center. As there is a saying 'A movie is able to change your life', the movie has been positioned in the deepest part of our life, and become the fundamental factor of our culture. While I was wondering about the good gifts for the children who came to the Philippines DAIL Community center, I accidentally heard some children singing a theme song of a popular movie. I asked, "You must have seen the movie to sing the song. Is it right?" However, I was shocked by their answer. "We have never seen the movies, we just sing along the songs of the other children who saw it." Then I made up my mind to fix a 'Movie Day' once a month and show the movie that they wanted to see. Today was the third Movie Day. I showed them 'The Frozen' and 'Toy Story' in the first and second Movie Day, and the movie of this month was 'Kungfu Panda'. I put some posters on the walls in the center, then the children asked me if they could take them as soon as the movie ended. Our projector is too old to show the clear pictures. We have to close all the windows and doors and cover them with black papers or clothes to see the shapes. Though the ice palace of the Queen Elsa in The Frozen all looks blue, the children don't care as they are happy to see the movie itself. Unlike the children, I and my staff couldn't help crying as we had nothing to do for them. Seeing the children who concentrate on the movie wiping the sweat in the hot weather, I really would like to build a nice theater with an air conditioner for them. However, I just feel sorry that I cannot do it because of the financial burden. The teachers shed tears and the children sweat. They feel happy even though they take a shower with their sweat. Maybe it's nothing but a movie, I can see a hope and a dream in it.

Preparing a new project, air conditioner and blackout curtain

The Philippines DAIL Community now has a purpose of having a projector which would let us see the movie leaving the windows opened, and starts a campaign for raising funds. It is because we believe that someone would come to us to help only if we pray and practice rather than just wait. I don't know how much longer we have to wait, I expect it would be a good opportunity to learn how to get together, help others and achieve the goals on our own demands.

'Dream For', towards the Next Generation of Cambodia

Finally, we have finished the construction of the 'Dream For'. Dream For is a facility for the students with good grades and sincere belief in the God, who grew up in the slums of Cambodia and received the meal service of Babfor. Those selected students will be trained as the leaders of the next generation in Dream For. The students will be settled in the second half of the year, and become the leaders through a community life, including the spirituality of Jesus, volunteer work of sharing and serving, and the praying while working. 'Dream For' was constructed by the support of Seongnam City and the Theos School. We really appreciate them for their supporting us.

The DREAM FOR Youth Camp

We held a youth camp for high school students. Under the slogan of 'DREAM FOR', the attendants had a joyful time sharing delicious food, playing some interesting games and praying. We shared and talked about the dreams of each other and prayed for all of us. Please pray for us to make our dreams come true, serve our neighbors, and eventually spread the love of Jesus all over the world.

After School Classes Have Changed!

Cambodia DAIL Community is running after school classes for the children who want to study in a tough environment and teaching them English, Taekwondo and table tennis. The classes have been recently reformed via an extensive beautification project. Our students had a great time learning English from the students of the Stony Brook School(SBS), who recently visited our class.

Meet the New Members of the DAIL Angel Clinic.

Dr. Eun Su Park and his family came to serve the Cambodia DAIL Community from the USA. He treats the children in the DAIL Angel Clinic every day, and in the afternoon, he takes care of the neighbors who cannot visit the clinic due to the disability or long distance with our local staff. The DAIL Angel Clinic is the only hospital and a free clinic in the slum. I hope many people get recovered and healthier via our clinic.

The Love House of Chungju Red Cross, which Granted Mom's Wish

Mrs. Buong sells the beverages to cold the sweat of people in the street every day, and she cannot stop working not even one day. It is because she has two children to take care of all by herself. Though she has no clothes to cover the hot sunlight, she feels happy as she can feed and educate her children with the money she earned. Her wish is to have a small house where she and her children can freely relax. She has always dreamed of cooking for her children and making them study in comfort in the house. Maybe a vivid dream becomes a realization. The Chungju Red Cross, an organization in a far and away country of Korea, built a love house for Mrs. Buong and her children living in the area of Nha Be, via the Vietnam DAIL Community and the Ho Chi Minh Red Cross. The staff of the Chungju Red Cross directly visited the spot and finished the whole process, including the painting and arranging. Though she has to keep selling the beverages on the street for a living, she is happier than ever before as she now has a house to comfort herself and her children. I'm sure Mrs. Buong and her children could dream another dreams in their new house from now on. On hearing this news, the HTV(Ho Chi Minh City Television) covered the story of Mrs. Buong's love house and the Chungju Red Cross, and is going to broadcast it with four-part series of documentary in June. A lot of people participated in the house-giving party of Mrs. Buong. It is said that the love gets larger as you share it. I hope her story would spread throughout the world via the broadcasting and become a passage of helping others in need and making their dreams come true.

Childrens' Day in Vietnam

To celebrate the Childrens' Day in Vietnam, the members of the Korea's Youth Babfor gathered to wrap the gifts supported by corporations. It was hard for us to wrap them in the hot weather, however, we could enjoy it ,imagining the happy faces of the children who would receive them. We invited the children in nearby districts to the Babfor center. The children far from the center were invited to the local churches and had a good time to celebrate the day and share the gifts. The children in slums think that they have nothing to do with Childrens' Day as they have to struggle for a living day by day, however, they could enjoy this very day because they became a star and received many gifts and celebrations. Seeing the children with bright smiles, holding their gifts in both hands, I thought it would be great if every day of the year would be the Children's Day.

The volunteer team of the Saigon Dream Church mainly served the celebration party of the day and the food, including hamburgers, chickens and beverages were sponsored by the LOTTERIA. The VEGAS, THANH CONG and VIDELVINA respectively offered snacks, T-shirts and bags. I sincerely appreciate everyone for their supporting and volunteering this meaningful event. DAIL

CHINA

Hee Joon Lee,

Director of the China DAIL Community

Medical Services of Ilsan LivingWell Dental Clinic

Twice a year, the Ilsan LivingWell Dental Clinic visits to serve the local community of Hunchun and performs free treatments and education. Dr. Hyun Chul Kim and his staff have taken care of the children for a long time, so that they could memorize the names of the children now. We love all of you!

Volunteering in a Nursing Home

My family did a volunteer work in a nursing home outside Hunchun City last weekend. I decided to visit a nursing home on a regular basis as it would be a good education for the children to share the given love and practice the gratitude and service. The grandmothers and grandfathers in the nursing home welcomed my children with joy as they had not met the children for a long time. It was a beautiful memory for me to see my children saying, "We will come here many times, grandma!!"

A Special Birthday of Yozang

It was the birthday of Yozang, the eldest in the DAIL Childcare Center. Having his birthday party, he stood up and said, "This is my last birthday party in the center. I want you to study hard, my bros...". Then everyone got sad to see him weeping. Yozang came to the DAIL

Childcare Center when he was in 3rd grade in primary school, and he is now an on-job trainee hairdresser of a vocational high school. He has to leave the center and stand on his own in coming August. Though he is doing his best to stand alone, he seems to be nervous and regretful. Of course, this is not the end of our relationship, but it is true that he doesn't know what to do to stand alone. There would be no governmental support when he becomes 18. He has to earn his way from now on.

In this coming August, four of our children become adults and have to stand alone. The average monthly rental fee here is about 90 thousand won. Thus, an old boy can afford a minimum place to live for six months if he has 540 thousand won. For the six months, they will work hard to save money for their independent life. Please help them with standing alone via your support fund of rental fees. Cheer up Yozang, Wang Haibu and Wang Haitao! They are the family members of the DAIL Childcare Center.

Gifts from the USA DAIL Community

The USA DAIL Community has sent some support fund for our children here in Hunchun. Thanks to the fund they sent, we could buy blankets for every child in the center and an annual educational expense of 7 children could be also secured. Actually, we wanted to change the blankets as they were too old. We are so pleased to make our children happy. We bought 25 sets of blankets in all. Thanks for the great love from the USA DAIL.

DAIL Angel Hospital / DAIL Little Heaven

Jung Soon Yim,

Director of the DAIL Little Heaven

Electronic wheelchair presentation with Fruit of Love Happy Stock Exchange and 2015 marathon with Ildo Choi CEO.

The Nam Mountain Walkathon was held as a part of the social integration campaign by the social workers in Seoul. It was a meaningful day as the director and the senior members of the Little Heaven attended together. The senior members looked so innocent as if they were the children who went on a picnic. In the morning on the same day, the Angel Hospital held an "Electric Wheelchair Donation Ceremony" for Mr. Jang, whose legs had been amputated by the frostbite long time ago. I couldn't express how happy I was at that moment because I walked along the road of Nam Mountain, with tears and smiles of deep impression. "40 years ago, I lived in Gwanghwamun near Nam Mountain. So, I would often climb Nam Mountain, feeling the sense of the four seasons. I was very healthy and had two strong legs just like the others at that time, so it was very easy for me to climb the mountain. However, after both of my legs were amputated, I couldn't even get close to the mountain. I visited Nam Mountain again thanks to the help of the DAIL Little Heaven, and there I saw beautiful cherry blossoms and felt the warmth of spring. It made my heavy and cold heart smooth. I felt like the sunlight of spring was reflecting my mind. Keeping this happiest moment deep inside my heart, I would like to go wherever I want with this electric wheelchair. I will live a new life from now on". Mr. Jang smiled and told me about his resolution. "I was so pleased to visit the mountain covered with the beautiful flowers like azalea and forsythia. Walking along the trail, I could feel the sweet smell of flowers and fresh sense of spring. I was able to have good memories, thanks to the beautiful view of spring." Mr. Kim, who always had a positive mind, said to me. The day we shared everything! The day of social integration with the director, senior citizens, employees and social workers! It was a meaningful, impressive day of the Nam Mountain Walkathon.

Parents' Day, Receiving carnations, and eating Samgyetang

There was a special event on the Parents' Day in 2015. The students from the Hwigeong Technical High School, who have visited us every year, helped every single senior citizen to wear a red carnation on their chest and hold them by the hand saying, "Please be healthy and live long." Though the senior citizens replied with a big smile saying, "This flower is so pretty," I could see them shedding tears in the eyes. Maybe they feel like the students and volunteers are their children as they get sick and aged, and no one visits them any more. In the afternoon, in order to remove this gloomy atmosphere, we had a recreation time solving quiz, singing a song, dancing and playing the instruments. The volunteers and senior citizens enjoyed themselves having a talent show and reciting their own poems. Ju Young-Ju, the deaconess of the Seoul DAIL Church, suggested that the Samgyetang(which means the Ginseng Chicken Soup) would be perfect for the dinner on this special day as she remembered it was the senior citizen's favorite dish. Every senior citizen enjoyed their delicious dinner and kept appreciating deaconess Ju for her supporting dishes. Even though everyday cannot be happy just like today, I will do my best to make everyday of the year be special. Ten thousand years, my dear senior citizens~ DAIL

Pretty Events of Pretty Couples

A lot of couples come to Babfor to do their volunteer works. Jong Hoon Kim and Myung Sin Lee couple visited Babfor as their honeymoon for the first time and has been visiting us on the day of their wedding anniversary for 11 years. Sean and Jung couple has donated 3.65 million won on the day of their wedding anniversary, too. A young couple of university students volunteered here to celebrate their 100th day, and another couple stayed here for a few days as a honeymoon doing services after they held a wedding. The main character of today is Ha Neul Jeon and Han Yi Eum Han couple, who is succeeding the beautiful tradition of Babfor. They agreed to have a valuable 1st wedding anniversary last year and joined in the Babfor's volunteer works for the first time. After finishing their services, they promised that they would come back next wedding anniversary. To celebrate their 2nd wedding anniversary, they really returned and did their services with bright smiles. This time, they left a letter and a support fund in a pretty envelope. "We are impressed with the devotion and services of many people, and pleased to join in the volunteer works just for a short time! We hope this little money would be of use for a valuable mission."
