DAIL COMMUNITY

Spring Sunshine Announcing A New Beginning...

The frozen streams near the Dail Community of Seolgoksan, Gapyeong have melted away and are undoubtedly showing signs of a new beginning. We wish that broken relationships and hardened hearts melt away like the frozen ground and rivers under the warm spring sunshine and allow for warmth and love to penetrate through again!

If one does not neglect those who are hurt, and has sympathy for them, and is not envious of the success of others but, rather, rejoices with them, such a person is indeed a happy person.

The supporting members of Dail are such happy people.
 Dail weeps as hard as those who weep, and rejoices greatly with those who rejoice.
 The supporting members of Dail also weep with those who weep and rejoice with those who rejoice.

Many people are interested and concerned about the flowering and fruiting of plants. People look forward to flowers (glory) and fruits (achievements) when starting a task. However, we hope that our focus could be turned to the seeds. When we began Dail, all we did was sow the seeds of hope, seeds for the hopes for tomorrow, with tears and sweat. Those seeds are now scattered in China, Vietnam, the Philippines, Cambodia, Nepal, Tanzania, and Uganda. And as we are sowing new seeds, we are looking forward to bearing new fruits. In the Bible, it says, "Those who sow in tears will reap with songs of joy." Dail is aiming to become a sower who sows anywhere, under any circumstances, whether it rains or storms.

I recently read 'The Man Who Planted Trees', which deeply inspired me, in which the antagonist continued to sow seeds and plant trees despite the horrible circumstances and environment of war, greed, and selfishness. We eagerly wish to take after the life of the shepherd Bouffier.

Today, we are asking all of our sponsors to sow seeds of hope.
 We hope that true peace will be instilled in the lives of each and every one of our sponsors.

Little Brother, Ildo Choi 희망은

1 year of earthquake restoration damage in Nepal

Hong Choi, Director of Nepal Dail Community

Approximately 9,000 killed, over 25,000 injured

April 25th 2015 is a day of unforgettable tragedy for the people of Nepal

A look at the year after the earthquake in Nepal, seen from the eyes of the Dail Community that implemented 8 emergency relief activities immediately after it.

Public Village Restroom Construction Site

The earthquake in Nepal hit with a magnitude of 7.8 on April 25th of 2015. After the earthquake in Haiti, there was a forewarning that another earthquake would hit Nepal, and just as predicted, Nepal experienced a terrible tragedy. However, despite the forewarning, not enough countermeasures were established in preparation for the earthquake.

Over 9,000 people were killed and 25,000 people were seriously injured. Countless World Heritage Assets were lost, and nearly one million houses were destroyed. The aftermath of the earthquake left Nepal in devastation, but the people of Nepal did not stockpile basic necessities or cause any riots. Despite the irresponsible and delayed countermeasures of the government, the people of Nepal did not panic, they endured difficulties, and maintained order to help with the restoration work. After the major earthquake, over 500 aftershocks continued to hit Nepal. As the aftershock frequency decreased and preparations were being made for restoration, the rainy season began in Nepal.

As the rainy season was coming to an end, on September 20th, a new hope was blossoming in Nepal. Enactment of Nepal's constitutional law was announced after nearly 10 years of struggle. However, issues were raised concerning the constitutional law enactment and blockade measures from India began, which lasted for nearly 5 months. People considered the blockade measures more difficult than the sudden earthquake. The fundamental needs of the lives of the people of Nepal were at risk. Basic necessities including oil and gas were cut off, and this was immediately followed by an electricity crisis. The people of Nepal were forced to survive through the coldest winter in 20 years. Many vehicles ran out of fuel and were stranded on the streets, and it was very common to see people riding on bus rooftops. Most people had no choice but to walk.

Earthquake damage restoration was merely a hope; there wasn't anything that the people could do except to make temporary shelters out of trees. 10 months have now passed since the aftershocks ceased to occur. Nepal appears to be problem free on the outside. However, the lives of the people that have been destroyed and threatened due to the earthquake and the blockade are like dry land waiting for the rain to come. It is very difficult for them to restore their lives on their own.

The continuous love and support that the world showed to Nepal after the earthquake needs to be sustained in order to rebuild houses, schools, church buildings, and orphanages to transform Nepal into a land of hope. A whole year has passed and new regulations have been introduced to make things more difficult. At the same time, the level of interest and support has significantly decreased.

The emergency relief activities implemented through the love of the world really touched my heart while I was serving in Nepal. The people of Nepal were bound by fear. Nevertheless, many people from numerous countries came, despite the aftershocks, to help with the restoration activities. Such fundamental restoration activities need to be sustained.

Nepal Dail Community implemented emergency relief activities immediately after the earthquake. Since then, we have been providing practical support, such as a Mobile Babfor food service, Emergency medical camps, Rice/Canopy/mosquito net sharing, public restroom construction, disease prevention, hygiene education, feminine sanitary products, etc. Furthermore, Nepal Dail Community will be reconstructing destroyed church buildings, as well as an orphanage to support families and children who have suffered tragic losses. By giving our best effort to restore the earthquake damages, we hope to raise Nepal as the "roof of the world" and gather the nations at Eve's resting place - (Mt. Everest). Dail

Preparation period filled with excitement

I had just under a month to prepare. All NEON team members were busy preparing for the trip to Nepal even before the summer break began. I still have very fond memories of the day when we all met together for the first time. It was very awkward at first, but we've gotten so close now that it makes me smile just by thinking about it. We shared a lot of laughter and tears while preparing for the MT and education services, etc., with the team members. As I look back now, it was a very memorable time. I wasn't able to help out a lot with the preparations because I was scheduled for my practical nursing period. But the team members encouraged me and understood the situation. I tried to help to the best of my abilities.

At last, Nepal

After completing all the last minute preparations on January 3rd, I got on an early morning bus to head to the airport. Even as I was sitting in the plane heading to Nepal, it all felt like a dream. At the same time, I was overwhelmed with mixed emotions. After a long flight, I arrived in Nepal around 11 at night. My first impression of Nepal was very dark, and everyone looked at us as we walked by. It was then that I actually realized that I was in Nepal. All my expectations and excitement concerning Nepal dissipated and I was filled with concerns and fear. When we arrived at our lodging, the people seemed very unfamiliar. I don't know if it was because of fear or excitement, but I had a hard time trying to fall asleep.

Until No One Starves in this Land

Our team members had a responsibility to fulfill every morning while serving at the Nepal Dail Community. It was the 'Babfor' service: providing a hot meal to the children. Director Hong Choi of Nepal Dail Community said that the Babfor service is an activity that Dail does every morning with a resolution to put an end to starvation in Nepal. For children living in poor villages, this meal could be the first and last meal of the day. This is why it was very important for us to be punctual and fully responsible. Every morning, when we arrived at the center, the children greeted us by singing a song called 'Welcome!' We've learned so much from the children just by serving them. The importance of keeping promises, or of a meal, or of the water that we take for granted. We began to learn valuable lessons from the children even before we gave them anything.

Life in Poor Villages

Nepal Dail Community is a center that ministers mostly to the children living in poor villages. On the first day, we were given the opportunity to look around the villages. I had imagined what the poor villages would look like in Nepal, but the living environment was far more difficult than what I had expected. Extremely limited living space, a canopy to call a roof, people living next to a pigsty... Such conditions were unimaginable for me. I really felt sorry for them. I heard a story about a little child who inched closer to the fire to keep warm in the cold winter. The child eventually burned to death. I was filled with an unexplainable emotion when I heard the story. I saw children who are exposed to various diseases and felt a greater need for hygiene education. It also allowed me to treat all the children with love and without prejudice.

Hope School Children

The main program that our team members focused on during preparation was education. We had many debates about whether to have

Music education

NEON Team members

each member take a class or have the entire team take care of all the children. After we decided to divide the children into classes, we spent most of our time on preparing for educational programs. There were many unexpected variables when we arrived in Nepal, and we had to quickly modify the programs or discard some entirely. However, the team worked well together to overcome the obstacles. Most importantly, the children seemed to have a great time, which indicates that the Olympic and cultural performance programs were a success. I think I was happier than the children. At first, I was worried because I didn't like children in general. I didn't think I could get along with them, or even like them. However, the children proved my thoughts wrong. It was difficult not to love these children who had such pure and innocent smiles. Once, a child approached me and tried to warm up my hands.

All I did was spend some time with him, but I think he showed me a much greater love in return. I was very touched by what he did. I was a different person on the last day compared to the first day.

The children were crying as we were leaving because they didn't want us to go. A part of me didn't want to go back to Korea. However, just as my experience in Nepal became an unforgettable memory, I was confident that our visit to the children in Nepal also became a valuable memory for them.

Himalayas, where the morning view is magnificent

When I heard that Himalaya trekking was a part of our program, the first thing that entered my mind was whether I would do well without becoming a burden to my team members.

I went hiking every week in Korea to prepare myself for the Himalayan trekking, but every time, I was worried because I was very badly out of shape. However, when we began the actual trekking, I didn't have to worry at all. All of the team members kept pace with the people who were falling behind and encouraged one another. After seeing such teamwork, I was confident that everyone would successfully complete the trek. I would've definitely failed if I were on my own. But everyone finished successfully because we all worked together. On the third day of Himalaya trekking, we began walking at five in the morning to see the sunrise. It was the most difficult and the most memorable day at the same time. Five in the morning. Everything was pitch black, and we hiked on while trying to keep ourselves warm. We had to walk faster than other days because we had to see the sunrise. It was very hard. While taking a short break, I looked at the sky filled with countless stars. It was so beautiful and I couldn't keep my eyes off of the scenery.

It can't be seen in Korea, but Venus shines especially bright in Nepal. I was very grateful that I could see such a beautiful view. It was very cold, but the countless stars in the sky provided light for our path, and our NEON team members were enough to keep each other warm. The stars that I witnessed on that morning became an unforgettable memory. I was very happy and grateful that I could share such memories with our team members and teachers.

Dhanyabad Nepal

Everything that I took for granted in Korea was something to be thankful for in Nepal. When I saw the smiles on the faces of the people of Nepal despite the difficult living conditions, I felt embarrassed by the fact that I complained frequently despite our comfortable living environment. I came to serve, but rather, my experience in Nepal was a time of valuable lessons for me. I am thankful for all the people that I met in Nepal, for making my trip a very memorable experience. Dhanyabad Nepal. DAL

World Water Day

Is it because of climate change?

It has stopped raining in Cambodia and the water is drying up.

Tonle Sap has gotten smaller

Hyung Gil Kim, Director of Cambodia Dail Community

'Tonle Sap' is the name of a body of water in Cambodia which means 'Great Lake'. Tonle Sap is located in the central region of Cambodia. It is the largest lake in Asia with a latitudinal length of 300km.

However, the size of this large lake has decreased significantly. In the past, numerous tributaries led to Tonle Sap, but the tributaries have dried up so much that the riverbeds are revealed, the lake surroundings have dried up, and the external diameter of the lake has decreased.

A view of dried up Tonle Sap lake seen from the Siem Reap Babfor center
Trees and weeds grow abundant on the dry lake.

In 2011, I was dispatched to Siem Reap for the first time, where the origin of the Cambodia Dail Community is located. During that time, I was informed that a tremendous amount of precipitation fell in the Mekong River region. As a result, the river failed to flow past Vietnam to the southern sea. The overflow of water flowed backwards to the Tonle Sap lake in Cambodia and caused a flood. Downtown Siem Reap, which is located on the northern part of Tonle Sap, was immersed in water during that time.

The city streets were filled with water and there were people traveling by boats. Vehicles couldn't be started because the water covered the hoods, and children caught fish and crabs in the front yards of their home. The Cambodia Dail Community Center was also located along the Siem Reap river leading to Tonle Sap, and our staff couldn't get to work because the lake overflowed. During that time, houses in the low altitude regions were completely immersed in water. Many people were victimized. Cambodia Dail Community provided emergency relief aid support in the Cheong Khneas region. In October of 2015, I was sent to the Cambodia Dail Community once again. It was the monsoon season in Cambodia at the time and I was expecting to see a lot of rain and water. But it was completely different from what I had imagined. It is common to see rain every day during monsoon season in Cambodia, but it hardly rained. The cancellation of Cambodia's water festival, which is one of the country's largest national festivals, was announced on the news. The festival couldn't proceed because the Mekong River's water level was too low. Now, it is difficult to travel to Tonle Sap on large ships or boats. In some cases, commuters are required to travel closer to the lake in order to enter it by boat rather than board a boat on a Tonle Sap tributary.

The pain caused due to the decreasing amount of water in Cambodia and the decreasing size of Tonle Sap delivered a direct impact to the families residing in the lake's surroundings. In Cambodia, water is a symbol of wealth and abundance. Poor families directly suffer from the effects of water shortage. In contrast, an abundance of water attracts the fish population to the Mekong River and Tonle Sap and increases the haul. Also, organic and floating matter in the water provides nutrients to the farmlands in the Tonle Sap region, which leads to an abundant rice yield. Such effects of the abundance of water lead to increased income for the residents. The residents of Tonle Sap region are still waiting for water because water means life and abundance for them. The effects of global warming and sudden climate changes inflicted on Tonle Sap were immediately followed by major difficulties for the poor people in the nearby regions. We ask for your support and prayers for the people living in the regions near the Cambodia Dail Community so that they will be able to overcome these difficult times. DAIL

Water is Life

A story about wells in Cambodia

Dail Community established its Cambodia branch in 2004 and is actively involved in various projects to provide necessities for the local residents, such as food (Mealfor, Breadfor), 1:1 child sponsorship (Pumdail), education (Dreamfor), medical services, local development, income enhancement projects (Log boat support project), etc. One of the local development projects is the well digging ministry, which was recently covered by PD Notes on TV. If a viewer who saw the film had never been to Cambodia, they could easily think that all NGOs active there are irresponsible and immoral. I think that it was very wrong of them to create such a biased documentary.

Water is life. Digging a well and providing water requires the heart of a servant, upright faith, and a moral lifestyle. Also, since water is life just as Jesus is life, the staff members at the Cambodia Dail community prepare with prayer and meticulous inspections (i.e. arsenic and water quality contamination test, validity test) prior to digging the actual well. If a resident of the ministry region requests for a well in the village, Dail community provides a well according to well-digging guidelines. Next, guidelines and training are provided for the residents so that they can take care of the well on their own. We keep post management in mind when we begin to dig wells for the residents. complications and intoxications leading from arsenic contamination mentioned in the documentary film were a result of an arsenic stratum in Phnom Pehn, the capital of Cambodia.

Results of various tests conducted in Siem Reap, which is the primary region where Cambodia Dail Community is most active, did not show signs of arsenic in the well water, as you can see in the images above. A minimal amount was detected, but the level was less than the 10ppb WHO standard, which meant that it was safe to drink. Nevertheless, Dail Community did not proceed with well digging in the Phnom Pehn region due to risk of arsenic contamination.

The Cambodia Dail community recognized the dangers of poorly managed well-digging ministries 3 years ago. For this reason, Dail community joined hands with 'Borderless Conference of Scientists and Engineers' led by the titration technique research team of Seoul National University, with an objective to come up with a means to provide clean filtered drinking water other than well-digging. As a part of the effort, Siem Reap Babfor Center uses the water purification system developed by the 'Borderless Conference of Scientists and Engineers' every day to provide clean and safe drinking water to over 500 children and local residents. Director Hyung Gil Kim of the Cambodia Dail Community also drinks the same water with the residents every day.

When I think about the time when the Cambodia Dail Community was established 12 years ago, I remember seeing kids who washed their white school uniforms in dirty water, children suffering from dermatitis and diarrhea due to contaminated water, and many people who came to Dail Angel Clinic to seek treatment for stomach pains.

After the Cambodia Dail Community provided mealfor, Bbangfor, and Waterfor services to the village, the children came to school with bright white uniforms, skin diseases were healed, stomach pains and diarrhea symptoms ceased. It was a wonderful time.

We learned that improving the wells alone cannot provide a perfect solution. Also, all regions were already over saturated with wells. As a result, Dail transitioned its focus from well digging projects to water purification and management projects. Furthermore, we are shifting our focus to providing practical necessities for the residents, such as through the Dail Clinic and boat support project. We now provide perfectly clean and safe water for the residents - as much as they need.

Hana Tour in Korea began recommending Cambodia Dail Community as one of the top 10 places to visit in Cambodia. Since then, many other travel agencies began to do the same. Dail Community has now grown to become one of Korea's most respected NGOs.

We have nothing to boast about. We have nothing to be disappointed or discouraged about. We will consistently pursue the practice of sharing and servanthood based on love.

In order to become a community that practices love surpassing religions and ideologies, the Cambodia Dail Community hopes to work together with all people in the world to make our God happy and to help make our world a more beautiful place.

We will not forget the day when we began cooking instant noodles for people at the Cheongnyangni Station Plaza 28 years ago. We will do our best to become a Dail Community that practices true love, sharing, and servanthood, starting now, here, and doing whatever we can. We truly thank you for your love and support. dail

Well-dying to Well-Being

A Story about a Dail Little Paradise Resident

Jung Soon Im,
Director of Dail Little Heaven

Dail Little Heaven is a homeless shelter (Resting Place) managed and operated by Dail Community under Seoul City's consignment. The most neglected and lonely people in the country are welcomed to this place to spend the last days of their lives in comfort without having to end their lives on the streets.

There are 35 residents currently living at Dail Little Heaven.

Over 80% of the residents are suffering from severe illnesses, including cancer. The residents at Dail Little Heaven are terminally ill. However, many of their lives have drastically changed since they came to Dail Little Heaven. Also, there were residents who came in sick, but have since been discharged as healthy individuals. Most residents at Dail Little Heaven are regaining confidence in their lives through provision of consistent care, consultation and rehabilitation activities with our staff members.

We would like to introduce Mr. Hyu Sik Kim, a resident at Dail Little Heaven with a terminal illness, yet with an eternal hope.

Hyu Sik Kim receiving Baptism

A Life thought to be over, a story with a twist

Last stages of nasal cavity cancer. Mr. Hyu Sik Kim is living with a terminal illness.

"Ring~ Ring~" March 6th, 2014... The telephone rang at Dail Little Heaven. The call was from Seoul Station's Dashiseogi Counseling office, inquiring about a vacancy. When we first met Mr. Hyu Sik Kim, his health condition was in a very serious state. He was diagnosed with nasal cavity cancer in 2012. The cancer cells spread from the temporomandibular joint to the cerebrum, which caused him to lose sight in his left eye. Recurring accidents also damaged his right eye as well. He ultimately lost both of his eyes. He had already received a 'life sentence' due to cancer metastasis. The doctors told him that he had 2 months at most to live. We decided to admit Mr. Hyu Sik Kim to Dail Little Heaven to provide some comfort for him.

He had difficulty finding the restroom on his own since he had lost both of his eyes. However, he showed a strong will to do what he could on his own. He waved his hands hundreds of times to become familiar with the surroundings, and now, he is capable of navigating himself through the Little Heaven facilities with ease.

In order to enhance the quality of life and psychological stability of Mr. Hyu Sik Kim, we conducted 2~4 counseling sessions every week. Through the counseling sessions, Mr. Hyu Sik Kim understood that death is a natural event experienced by all human beings, and he was relieved of the psychological, spiritual, and social fears concerning death. Also, he accepted Jesus Christ as his Lord and Savior through counseling sessions. He wanted to receive baptism, and Pastor Ildo Choi baptized him on February 13th of 2015. After being baptized, he said, "I didn't know getting baptized would make me this happy" and, "It feels like I am born again." He began a life of prayer after being baptized, and his life changed drastically since then.

His prayers must have reached the heavens as he was contacted by his one and only brother. Although they can't spend time together every day, whenever he visits, he brings well-prepared food to comfort Hyu Sik Kim. Finding his brother was a significant event in Mr. Hyu Sik Kim's life, and we could often find him counting the days until his brother comes to visit.

Mr. Hyu Sik Kim didn't have any hope before coming to Dail Little Heaven. But now, he is a completely different person. He had received his '2 month life sentence' on March 6th of 2014. However, he is no longer living a life in fear of death. He has been completely transformed. He was born again after coming to Dail Little Heaven, he is praying everyday as a devout Christian, and whenever he gets a chance, he makes jokes and laughs with the staff at Dail Little Heaven. He is having the happiest time of his life.

Life transition from Well-dying to Well-being. This is life at Dail Little Heaven. DAIL

Happy Children of Ogeum-dong

Babfor is _____ Hyo Jung Park

It's been 5 years since Happy Children began. In 2010, the mothers of 3rd graders at Ogeum Elementary School attended a special lecture for parents and created this club.

The mothers had a common objective to provide a solution for practical parenting issues. The mothers agreed that they had to raise their children together. We began various activities to deal with various practical issues such as sex education and media training, and the mothers also attended weekly assemblies and learned conversational skills to grow together with the children.

One day, the children became teenagers and suggested that we find something we could do for the community all together. As a result, our first meeting with Babfor was established in February of 2014. We all were significantly impacted on that day. Since then, we head to the Cheongnyangni Dail Community at 7:40 in the morning, twice during the summer break and twice during the winter break. Together, we prepare the food, serve the food, and clean up together.

Since then, we have engraved the mentality: "Now, from the smallest thing, from myself and what I can do." We also give our gratitude to our God above by saying, "We will live a life of equality and unity in diversity by becoming bread for others, just as Jesus Christ came as bread from heaven to give us eternal life."

Shalom!

Greetings to all those who love and support Nepal. How is everyone? It's been a while since 2016 begun, but I am sure that everyone felt a sense of refreshment after the celebration of our Korean New Year. The blistering winter wind and falling snow has transformed into the vitality of spring that brings forth new life. In the same manner, I believe that it is now a time to get rid of our negative and weak thoughts and stand upright with power. I wish to deliver

Babfor services provided by Pastor Tae Sung Kim's family and friends

some news concerning Nepal and share some prayer requests.

Nepal Blockade lifted after 5 months

The blockade that began on September 20th of 2015 was lifted at last on February 9th. So many things were lost due to the earthquake and the people couldn't do anything during the rainy season. They tried to begin restoration work after the rainy season, but India established a blockade, which cut off all oil, gas, electricity, and fundamental supplies. Furthermore, Nepal experienced one of the coldest winters in 20 years. People of Nepal were faced with a very difficult winter season, but I am very grateful that the blockade is finally lifted.

However, the cost increase that gradually built up over the past 5 months is slow to decrease, and the people of Nepal are still faced with many difficulties to start fresh. Nevertheless, many people are making an effort for the restoration of Nepal and to establish a better world to live. We ask for your continuous prayers.

New Beginning for Earthquake Damage Restoration

The earthquake in Nepal hit with a magnitude of 7.8, which was followed by two more major earthquakes and over 500 aftershocks. A 5.5 magnitude aftershock hit Nepal once again a few days ago, and everyone here had to hold their breath one more time. Despite the difficulties of the rainy season and the blockade that immediately followed the earthquake, people were busy trying to make restorations on personal levels. Now, since the blockade has been lifted, we are planning to focus on restoring and reconstructing the orphanage and church building in the Sindhupalchowk region, which suffered the most severe damages. Please pray for the restoration projects since the damaged conditions have worsened since the time of the earthquake. Also, please continue to provide your love and support.

Sharing and Serving Hands

In order to deliver warmth and love to Nepal, many people have provided loving care. Thank you to the NEON overseas volunteer team from Sunchon National University, Babfor service provided by students of Gangnam University, inspirational performances by Bahir Chamber Orchestra, support activities for the children of poor villages where the hydroelectric power plant is in construction by Korea South East Power, Babfor services provided by Pastor Chul Gu Son and the students at Hongik Church, Babfor service provided by 50 students from School of Dreams, Babfor services provided by Pastor Tae Sung Kim's family and friends, Babfor services provided by the youth group of Susan Church, Babfor services provided by Missionary Myeong Ok Kim and her family, Babfor services provided by the students of Handong University, talent donation from 3 graduates of The Catholic University of Korea, and Babfor service and Hope School Education Activities provided by the youth group of Juan Presbyterian Church. After their time of serving, the volunteers took time to participate in a Poonhill Trekking and cultural experience to learn valuable lessons.

Prayer Requests

1. For true freedom, peace, and restoration of Nepal.
2. For re-establishment of the church and orphanage facilities.
3. Bless the Babfor ministry to feed the hungry children.
4. To foster talented individuals through the Hope School.
5. Restore the confidence in women through the sewing class.
6. Please help the Pocara Bbangfor and Korean language school.
7. Please increase the number of 1:1 child sponsorship to 500 sponsors.

Students of Christian Orphanage in worship

Precious Time of Sharing

On the 21st, precious high school students visited us. The students were from a Christian orphanage. They each grew up at the orphanage due to inevitable circumstances. They weren't very fond of kitchen duties, and they were very slow. However, it was very precious to see that they had hearts to serve. As they took a look around the village, they each confessed how blessed they are to live in a country with a good living environment, and they blessed and prayed for the Philippines.

Hoping for a Strong Start in 2016

We held a one-day workshop for the Philippine staff to ensure a strong start in 2016. We shared things that we weren't able to in the past, and we took some time to get closer to one another. It was a very valuable time. Everyone had some difficulties of their own, and a few are still going through hard times, but they all said that they are happy because they have the Dail community. The staff members gathered together to pray for the Babfor ministry to spread the love of Christ through the ministry, and that it would be prolonged until the return of Jesus.

Dail Kindergarten Graduation

The babies that entered kindergarten last year are now getting prepared for their graduation. The children look more mature as they are rehearsing the graduation ceremony, and their singing has gotten louder and stronger. We would like to bless the children who are getting ready to become elementary school students with confidence.. dail

Magic of love -

Continuous service and sharing

Dream For is a place where the children who grew up in the Cambodia Dail Community live to develop and fulfill their dreams. Pastor Ki Ho Kang (Theos School, Dream Church), students, and parents who provided support to furnish the living necessities for 6 Dream For students visited Cambodia Dail Community last January. They've been visiting us on a regular basis every year to provide volunteer services, they are very knowledgeable about the Babfor and Bbangfor ministries, and they also instructed one day volunteers. Also, they donated $1,000 in living expenses for the Dream For students and encouraged them.

Professor Jun Young Cho and his family, who have been with the Dail Community since its founding days and also supported the China Dail Community, visited Cambodia Dail Community in February to provide volunteer services and also donate $1,000. The professor in particular sponsored Yun Han, a family member of the China Dail

Professor Jun Young Cho's family

Community, until she graduated university. He was informed that she is now working in Cambodia after graduating. The professor met with Yun Han to encourage her.

Pastor Il Je Kim and 16 students from Acheon-dong Church came to Cambodia Dail Community for a vision trip. They provided support for the Babfor and Bbangfor ministries. The pastor specially expressed that he will continue to support the ministries at Cambodia Dail Community to help the Dream For students achieve their dreams and also for the establishment of the Asia Dail Vision Center. dail

Joy of Sharing on Vietnamese Holidays

All sponsors from Korea and those who love and pray for the Vietnam Dail Community, Happy New Year! The reason why we all wait for the holidays is because it is a time for families to get together to share food, stories, love, and joy.

Vietnam Dail Community prepared a holiday feast together with the VEGAS company for our Babfor family members who live alone without family. VEGAS is a company that has been serving the Vietnam Dail Community with love and consistency since 2012.

VEGAS visits us every year to provide Babfor services and support. This year, they delivered rice and various condiments (salt, soy sauce, sugar, etc.) to 120 disabled individuals, seniors who live alone, orphans, etc., who come to Babfor. Our Babfor family received overflowing gifts, and they were filled with joy as they returned home with full arms. We would like to extend our gratitude to the executives and staff members of VEGAS for the love and services they provided together with the Vietnam Dail Community.

We are always grateful to the Korean enterprises stationed in Vietnam for seeking mutual growth with local people and always taking the lead to serve others. We will pray that the businesses will be filled with joy and gratitude in the New Year. Please continue to pray for Vietnam Dail Community. dail

A Strong Start for the 3rd Hope Class

After the completion of the 2nd Hope Class, the staff at Tanzania Dail Community were busy preparing for the 3rd Hope Class. 'Dail Vision Center', which is a Dream For school, is not yet ready, and the classes are forced to proceed at the Babfor Center for the time being. So, the male staff members have painted the Babfor Center walls, and refinished the floor tiles. The female staff prepared the school uniforms and the school bags, as well as new curriculums. The staff members were very busy and tired from preparing to receive the new students, but they prepared with happiness and joy.

On February 1st, 40 students of the 3rd Hope Class came to our school. These children didn't receive elementary education because they couldn't afford it. But now, they have a chance to study and learn. The students were well aware of the Hope Class because the graduates of the 1st and 2nd Hope Class had told them about it. They are filled with excitement and curiosity. Can you feel the joy that the children experienced when they received the uniform and school bag?

There are a few students who stand out among the 3rd Hope Class students. Bernard, who was one of 3 children who suffered for sickle cell anemia, graduated from the 2nd Hope Class and was transferred to a regular school. Now, the remaining two students joined the 3rd Hope Class. There is also a vision impaired student with a beautiful smile. A few of them are younger siblings of the graduates of the 1st and 2nd Hope Class. They have the same eyes. The students are generally very pure and obedient. Ondesh, the teacher, also learned a few tricks to teach the kids more effectively. The eyes of the children are very bright, and their voices are very strong.

Dear sponsor. Please continue to support and pray for the students of the 3rd Hope Class. Thanks to your support, the children of Kunduchi in Tanzania are building dreams through the Hope Class. God is with us! Best of luck to the 3rd Hope Class! Thank you sponsors! dail

Winter Break at China Dail Community

China Dail Community is going through a very long winter break. There is more free time during the winter break, and the students attend various academies to catch up on studying, they read books, and they also play hard. The students take part in Taekwondo, arts, music classes, and various other activities. The children usually get bored during the winter break because they have to spend most of their time at home. However, China Dail Community is a very large family. There is never a quiet time at China Dail Community, which is one of our advantages.

Farewell Ms. Yoon Kyung Kwon

Ms. Yoon Kyung Kwon has been teaching English at Dail Children's House for 2 and a half years. She will be moving to Beijing in a short while. We all got together to bid her farewell with reluctant hearts. She has gotten so close with the children as a friend, a teacher, and a sponsor. We bless the new start that she will be embarking on. Ms. Kwon, we love you!

New Year's Home Coming Day

We hosted yet another homecoming day in celebration of the New Year. The children at Dail Children's House usually visit their relatives during holidays if they have them, but our graduates return home at this time. However, the number of students that returned this year was very low compared to previous years because our students moved on to study in Cambodia, Korea, the U.S.A, etc. Also, some students found jobs in the southern region in China, and it is too far for them to come home every year. Those who have the time take the lengthy commute to return home and share what they've experienced over the years. We are always grateful to hear that our graduates are proud to be children of Dail. We had a very happy and warm New Year. dail

Story of Little Heaven

A new start in 2016!

Spring is approaching with love in the air. Dail Little Heaven is also starting fresh in the New Year. A residents meeting and birthday party was held with the 2nd facility management committee who have been supporting Dail Little Heaven.

During the residents meeting, there was a time of 'complimenting' one another. Mr. Chang Geun Ahn said that he is thankful for staff Jin Young Jang for taking care of the residents with love. Mr. Jang Woo Nam said that he is thankful for Mr. Jong Gyu Lim for keeping the facilities clean and tidy. Mr. Gi Dong Min said that he is thankful for Mr. Chung Deok Hwang for keeping the place beautiful and attractive. There is a saying, 'Praise makes even dolphins dance.' Expressing our gratitude and hearts with one another helped us to gain new strength.

In celebration of the New Year, various programs (food preparation, yutnori, music performance, movie night, etc.) were prepared for the residents. We celebrated the New Year in a very family oriented atmosphere.

January and February is winter break for students. As a result, many of the volunteers that came to our facility were middle school, high school, and even college students. There were students who were required to do community service. Such students had a hard time adjusting at school. Volunteer activity has now become mandatory for some people. I hope that those who are required to do community service could learn things that they could not in schools to gain an opportunity to change their thoughts and ways in order to build up the courage to take on greater challenges in life.

"We hope that the lives of all the volunteers who serve at Dail Little Heaven could be filled with festive joy and excitement." dail

BABFOR SHARING MOVEMENT HEADQUARTERS

Ji Hyun Lee

Director of Babfor Sharing Movement Headquarters

SGI Seoul Guarantee Insurance Sharing the Love

Last year, executive and staff members of SGI Seoul Guarantee Insurance visited us to provide services in every quarter of the year. The newly appointed CEO, Mr. Jong Ku Choi and 50 executives and staff members came to Babfor to provide services for the first quarter of 2016.

SGI Seoul Guarantee Insurance donates 10 million KRW every quarter. Last year, they provided more material and psychological needs on top of the fixed donations.

Furthermore, the new CEO, Mr. Jong Ku Choi, scheduled Babfor as his first public visit as a CEO. He personally distributed food to the people and said, "I am very grateful that I am given the opportunity to serve like this." He is a man of true humility and with a servant's heart.

As we were introducing the Dail Community and the Babfor ministry, we explained that we are an international NGO that began in 1988. Also, we introduced Angel Hospital, which opened in 2002, as well as the Babfor and Bbangfor services provided in China, Vietnam, the Philippines, Cambodia, Nepal, Tanzania, and Uganda. The executives and staff members were surprised to hear that we are involved in so many ministries internationally. Moreover, we explained the establishment process of the first Christian no-cost hospital, Dail Angel Hospital. As for overseas ministries, we told them how we share food with children between the ages of 4 and 14, and treat their wounds and sicknesses. The Dream For ministry that helps children achieve their dreams through Hope classes was also mentioned. After hearing all this, the CEO said, "You are doing amazing, incredible work." It was very encouraging!

Mr. Chul Park, who came out to serve on 5 occasions, said, "I feel happier when I serve and share. I just can't stop doing it." When we talk about addictions, we generally think about alcohol or drug addictions. But he said that there are good addictions too, like the addiction to serve. He laughed out loud after saying this. DAIL

FNC Entertainment | FNC Entertainment, where Yu Jae Seok is affiliated, came to serve at Babfor. Of note, FT Island donated 1000kg of rice. We pray that FNC Entertainment can become Korea's representative entertainment agency that makes the world brighter. Thank you for your service

The Catholic University of Korea Angelus Bell Choir | 8 students of Angelus Bell Choir, the handbell performance club of the Catholic University of Korea came to participate in the Babfor ministry. They came all the way to Cheongnyangni despite their busy academic schedule. As they departed, they made a small donation. We would like to thank the students of the Catholic University of Korea for practicing the mentality of 'from small things, doing what I can do.'

Jong Un Kim, Myung Shin Lee Couple | This couple has been visiting Babfor every year on their wedding anniversary since 2004. Their faces still look as young as when they first got married, but now they are parents of 3 children. The whole family comes together to lend a hand. They first pledged to save 3000KRW every day and donate the collected amount every year. Now, they cover a day's Babfor expenses. They are not doing this because they have the money or the time. They are practicing true servanthood. I think that the world is a more beautiful place because of people like this. Thank you!

Hyundai Sangsun | New employees of Hyundai Sangsun visited Babfor Sharing Movement Headquarters for volunteer work. At first, it was awkward for them to serve food to the elderly, but they said that they realized how they have been taking everything for granted as they continued to serve others. We would like to thank and encourage the new employees for taking the first step into the real world with Babfor Sharing Movement Headquarters!

The Philippines

Yeonsung Global Volunteers | The Yeonsung Global Volunteers helped clean and restore the centre and the village from January 11th to the 15th, and they also spent meaningful time with the children and the villagers. During the village feast held on the last day, a magic show, K-POP and musical performance, and various other talents were on display. The most popular part of the feast was the tteokbokki and mattang, which were hand prepared by a student majoring in hotel culinary management and distributed to the local residents and children as snacks. The children and the local people couldn't stop thanking the staff.

Vietnam

Dae.Chung.Bab (Korea Youth Babfor) | There is a group of students who deliver strong energy to Babfor twice every month. They are the members of Dae.Chung.Bab (Korea Youth Babfor) who will become the leaders of the world. We could see the future in the lives of each member volunteering despite their busy schedules. The students of Dae.Chung.Bab (Korea Youth Babfor) are practicing a life of 'living together in harmony.' They are the hope of the future.

Cambodia

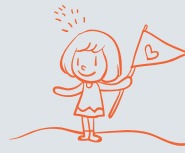

Ms. Yong Hyun Lee | Ms. Yong Hyun Lee served as a volunteer at the Cambodia Dail Community for a year in 2013. She came to visit the Cambodia Dail Community once again during the New Year's break in February to serve a little more. The staff members were very glad to see her again, and she was surprised to see how the children had grown. Their lasting relationship despite the distance shows what true love and sharing means.

Chamjoeun Gwangsung Church | There is a group of little angels that come to serve Babfor once every month. They are the children and students of Chamjoeun Gwangsung Church. They save their allowance to donate it to Babfor. Their practice of giving even at a young age makes everyone's hearts warm and brings smiles to our faces. The harmony of love delivered from the little angels makes everyone happy.

"From Babfor to Dreamfor"

What is your Dream?

We often ask this simple question to child.
 But some children just have sad eyes without having the answer to the question.
 They live in the poor country without knowing what their dream is.

They are working almost same as adult even though they are small with small hands.
 They can't afford to think about their dreams as they are so busy with making one meal a day.
 Maybe their dream is 'Coming to Babfor Center' which is the happiest thing for them in their actual life.

Dail wants to help them having a real dream.
 And we want to give you the joy of embracing the child who is growing his dream.

Embracing life is the Dreamfor

You can support well balanced meal, medical services, daily necessity expense, education and school supplies with $30 per month.

Whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me.
